December 1, 1969

Dear Harold:

I mailed you a letter this morning but this afternoon I went to Doubleday book store and bought some more Curry books and I just ran over to the post office and mailed you another copy. (I just put a little scotch tape on the "pleated envelope" you commented on, so I think you can use it better)

The main thing I wanted to tell you is that apparently none of the other books are out yet. Judy Bonner's book on the Dallas police is supposed to be out this month (December) according to an article in the paper the other day and I called the Genesis press the other day and they say the book on Ruby's "girls" will be out in a few days. I will send you copies as soon as they are out. Please do not feel "indebted" in any way. "Giving" you a few books is certainly not going to begin to repay you for all you have done for all of us who are interested in the assassination.

Sincerely,

Mary

Please give me a little time to try to get the originals of the documents & pictures -
